

AI's Transformative Impact on ITAD Procurement

Published: 21 July 2025 | Author: David Daoud

This report is about how artificial intelligence is quietly but decisively transforming the way enterprises evaluate ITAD providers. Compliance Standards just concluded a survey of 400 US companies and found a substantial shift taking place in the way RFPs are researched and who influence buyers. This exclusive report reveals why traditional RFPs are no longer fit for purpose in a post-AI procurement environment-and what forward-looking companies are doing to align vendor selection with operational risk, sustainability, and real-time intelligence. Based on direct insights from enterprise buyers, this briefing provides evidence of the evolving expectations shaping ITAD relevance, and provides a roadmap for service providers to stay competitive.
