

Component Market: Hardware Demand Puts New Focus on Parts Harvesting

Published: 5 June 2026 | Author: David Daoud

Electronics manufacturers are once again warning about tight supplies for parts that are deeply embedded in circuit boards. Some of those components are now quoted on months-long lead times and at clearly higher prices than a year ago. Capacitors and complex circuit boards are seeing these pressures, and some familiar decommissioned systems are becoming more interesting as sources of parts.
